The New York Times SAVEUR

THIS CHOCOLATE LIQUEUR IS A KEEPER. This is not your often-cloying garden-variety chocolate spirit, but one that showcases the bitterness of dark chocolate, with the salt a subtle grace note.

WINE ENTHUSIAST

Light rather than rich, this copper-hued liqueur has aromas of milk chocolate and hazelnut. The palate shows cocoa and tinges of nutella and candle wax, finishing with vanilla and the faintest anise exhale.

For a lighter sipper, opt for Organic Mixology... This is the chocolate liqueur to add to a retro espresso martini, or to use in more straightforward stirred cocktails—say, a Negroni that dials down the vermouth and Campari...
